Introduction

A community Service project is a term applied to any community-based project. This covers a wide variety of different areas within a community or a group of networking entities. Projects can cover almost anything, including the most obvious section of concern to any community, the welfare element. Welfare community projects would for example be, a locally run and locally funded orphanage. Another important sector of importance to the community would be charity. Charitable projects in the community can include, but are not limited to, ecological charities concerned with either the maintenance of green spaces, or in some cases, the prevention of the reduction/removal of green spaces. An old clothes collection service would also be a community-based charity project.

It begins when a small collection of motivated individuals within a community come together with a shared concern: how can our community respond to the challenges, opportunities, and climate change.

Scope and size

All community service projects are different in some way; the size and scope of these projects is determined firstly by the community they cater to.

According to the definition of a community, a community could be the entire human race or parts of it anywhere on the planet. However, because of phenomena like distance decay or demographic factors such as age group, gender and income that determine social identity of groups, the extent of community-based projects is usually much more limited.

Gollalapalem is an hamlet village in Bheemunipatnam Municipality is situated corner of the Visakhapatnam City about 20 kilometers to the north of the city of Visakhapatnam. The nearest railway station is at Pendurthi about 20 miles. There are two approaches to the village viz. (i) via Beach road or (ii) High way NH 16 (two comparatively bigger villages situated at a distance of one mile north and 1 miles east of the village respectively).

It is also under the jurisdiction of Bheemunipatnam police station. Bheemunipatnam is also the nearest market where the villagers generally sell their produce and purchase tools, implements, seeds and other necessities of life. Again Bheemunipatnam provides the village with its nearest veterinary hospital, primary health centre and post office.

However, in spite of the remoteness of the village, quite a large number of the villagers daily go Bheemunipatnam or Visakhapatnam either for service occupations or other work and thus maintain a consistent contact with the urban life.

The main consideration which guided us in the selection of this village for Socio-Economic study was its physical location i.e. it's being away from the major means of communications.

SOIL

The village has two types of soil viz., sandy and sandy-clay. The former is predominant on the southern and northern side of the village, whereas the latter is found in abundance on the eastern and western sides. Sandy soil is better suited for the cultivation of rice and vegetables.

CLIMATE

The climate of the place is the same as that of Bheemunipatnam GVMS of Visakhapatnam. Summers are rather hot and winters very cold. The weather in winters, however, is usually fine and a shower of rain during the season is welcomed by the agriculturists as it is very beneficial for cultivation. The days in summer are very hot whereas nights are comparatively cooler. The rainy season generally starts in the middle of June and ends in September.

TRANSPORT AND COMMUNICATION

The place is situated nine miles away from the National High way 16 viskhpatnam Srikakulam road. it is totally un-connected with the major means of communications. However, from Bheemunipatnam regular and efficient bus services are available for all directions viz. Visakhpatnam, Pendurthi, Srikakulam , Thagarapuvalsa, APRTC. Bus service also runs between Bheemunipatnam and Visakhapatnam every thirty minutes and the villagers generally make use of it.

CREMATORIUM

All the households in the village belong to the Hindu religion and follow the practice of cremating their dead. The only exceptions are children below the age of three years who are buried.

The village crematorium is situated at a distance of about one furlong, to the east of the habit yon. The crematorium for the scheduled castes is located in Gollalapalem hamlet of Bheemunipatnam .

SOURCES OF WATER

There are in all three drinking water wells in this place. No well is commonly owned except the one which is used by the village people Out of the other two, one which is situated in the nearby fields.
